

Generation Collaboration

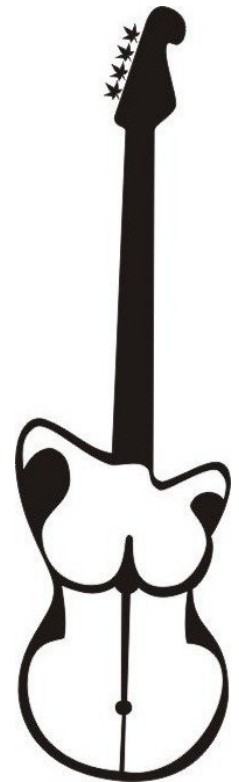

The future we create will be a reflection of how well we learn to communicate with each other now and work together on the things that matter most. We are facing a moment where many organizations are experiencing a transition in leadership and membership, and the disconnection between generations of women and feminists is growing larger by the minute. We, as women vow to do something about it, unite our energies and experiences to create a better world for all. Join us on April 5th to add your voice to this monumental day of discussion.

What is it? Women of all generations working together to build a stronger community by opening lines of cross-generational communication.

When: Saturday, April 5th

Where: Penn Women's Center
3643 Locust Walk
Philadelphia, Pa 19104

Time: Registration opens at 11:30am
Activities begin promptly at 12pm & conclude at 5pm
At 6pm, women are invited to join a casual dinner at The White Dog Café (3420 Sansom St. Phila, Pa 19104) as an additional social opportunity.

Generation Collaboration is a free event, with the option to donate funds to support SisterSpace's cross-generational work and future programming. For more information visit www.sisterspace.org or e-mail volunteers@sisterspace.org
